Symposium Sponsored by STRIPED & Harvard Catalyst:

Reimagining the Frontier of Public Health Approaches to Eating Disorders
Prevention: Transdisciplinary, Translational, Transformative

MONDAY, APRIL 30, 2018
7:00AM – 4:30PM

JOSEPH B. MARTIN CONFERENCE CENTER
HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL
77 AVENUE LOUIS PASTEUR, BOSTON, MA 02115

VIDEO TIMING

AM video 00:00:02  S. Bryn Austin, Director, STRIPED, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health and Boston Children’s Hospital
                   Opening Remarks

AM video 00:11:32  Senator Elizabeth Warren recorded video address

AM video 00:15:14  Expert Panel: Weight stigma and discrimination: Research, policy, and social justice perspectives
                   Moderator: Kirsten Davison, Director, Program in Public Health Nutrition, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

AM video 00:16:02  Kendrin Sonneville, Department of Nutritional Sciences, University of Michigan School of Public Health
                   Effects of body dissatisfaction and weight stigma on eating disorders symptoms, nutritional behaviors, and weight trajectories

AM video 00:26:11  Josiemer Mattei, Department of Nutrition, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health
                   Effects of weight stigma and discrimination on stress pathophysiology in marginalized populations

AM video 00:38:06  Iyiola Solanke, University of Leeds, School of Law
                   Legal theory and analysis of anti-weight-discrimination law and social justice in multiple national legal contexts

AM video 00:49:25  Lisa Du Breuil, Massachusetts General Hospital
                   Community advocacy, social justice, and diversity training on the issues of weight stigma and discrimination
AM video 1:15:20  Expert Panel: Strategic science and public health strategies for prevention: Decision sciences, macro policy research, and business innovations

Moderator: Howard Koh, Harvey V. Fineberg Professor of the Practice of Public Health Leadership, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

AM video 01:17:58  Christina Roberto, Department of Medical Ethics and Health Policy, University of Pennsylvania Perelman School of Medicine
Strategic science in nutritional public health and eating disorders

AM video 01:28:56  Davene Wright, Department of Pediatrics, University of Washington and Seattle Children’s Hospital
Comparative cost-effectiveness of primary and secondary eating disorders prevention strategies

AM video 01:39:29  Rachel Rodgers, Bouvé College of Health Sciences, Northeastern University
Evaluation of macro-level influences including mass media, fashion industry, and food industry and evaluation of policy interventions to reduce consumer risk

AM video 01:51:28  Troyen Brennan, Chief Medical Officer, CVS Health
Business perspectives on cross-sector initiatives to promote public health

AM video 2:19:00  Sarah Sliwa, Health Scientist, School Health Branch, Division of Population Health, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
Keynote: The Whole School, Whole Community, Whole Child program: A blueprint for integrating health-promoting practices in the school setting

PM video 00:1:29  Expert Panel: Early detection, early intervention: Innovations from the field for large-scale reach for underserved communities

Moderator: Kamryn Eddy, Co-director, Eating Disorders Clinical and Research Program, Massachusetts General Hospital

PM video 00:05:12  Renee Gibbs & Natara Garovoy, Veterans Healthcare System, US Department of Veterans Affairs
U.S. Veterans Healthcare System’s eating disorders screening in primary care for veterans

PM video 00:18:00  John Straus, Massachusetts Child Psychiatry Access Program
Mental health screening and treatment access in primary care settings serving Massachusetts youth

PM video 00:29:34 Therese Waterhous, Willamette Nutrition Source, Oregon
Oregon Medicaid program to train primary care providers in accountable care organizations to screen for eating disorders

PM video 00:41:25 Zafra Cooper, Department of Psychiatry, Yale School of Medicine
Closing the early intervention gap: Extending early intervention to underserved populations

PM video 1:00:00 Vikram Patel, Pershing Square Professor of Global Health, Department of Global Health and Social Medicine, Harvard Medical School
Keynote: Scalable mental health early detection and early intervention in low-resource settings and role of service, equity, and social justice in shaping research agendas for prevention

PM video 1:56:50 Reimagining the Frontier: Facilitated full audience discussion of insights for new directions, innovations for primary and secondary prevention of eating disorders, opportunities for cross-sector, transdisciplinary collaborations for translational research and practice to reach underserved communities, advance large-scale public health strategies.

PM video 2:42:56 S. Bryn Austin, Director, STRIPED, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health and Boston Children’s Hospital
Closing Remarks

Sponsored by the Strategic Training Initiative for the Prevention of Eating Disorders and Harvard Catalyst

With additional support from:
Ellen Feldberg Gordon Challenge Fund
Johnson & Johnson; Janssen Research & Development
Boston Children’s Hospital Translational Research Program
Boston Children’s Hospital Division of Adolescent & Young Adult Medicine