REQUEST FOR APPLICATIONS

Brief Description: FaCToR offers an overview of the concepts of clinical/translational research through the dynamic and interactive medium of online learning. As a selected participant of this online course, you will learn about the spectrum of clinical and translational research from first-in-human studies to healthcare interventions implemented on a population level. Course participants will learn the research methods used across the spectrum of clinical and translational research including: study design, data capture, ethics, regulatory concerns, scientific communications, funding courses.

Who is the target audience: MD, PhD, DMD, MPH, or equivalent who seek a broad understanding of clinical/translational research

Date applications are due for applicants: Friday, January 25, 2019

Date by which applicants will be notified: Wednesday, January 30, 2019

Course participants will be selected based upon completed application and statement of intent.

Harvard Catalyst's Education Program offers first priority to applicants who are current Harvard students, faculty, or current employees of Harvard University, its fifteen schools, and its nineteen academic healthcare centers.

Applicants not from an institution affiliated with Harvard Catalyst are accepted for a fee when space is available. For additional details, please email course administrators.

The expectation is that by accepting a seat in one of the Education Program courses, the participant is agreeing to participate in the entirety of the course. Since the Education Program courses are expensive to produce, but are offered to Harvard and CTSC affiliates free-of-charge, including Continuing Medical Education (CME) credits, the only obligation of participants is to participate fully and meet the basic requirements of completion for the course.

Please note that participants seeking CME credits must fulfill all requirements set forth in the course syllabus and complete all course surveys and evaluations to receive CME credits. No partial CME credits are offered.

If you have any questions about the course or information above, please don’t hesitate to ask. The course coordinator can be reached at FaCToR@catalyst.harvard.edu.